Profile

I am a registered midwife, anxious, motivated, and passionate to delivering quality and accessible health care to all people around me and beyond. I have a good clients-focused approach to service delivery and commitment to complete task.

I am adaptable and responsible field worker with 8 years' experience as a Community Health Nurse and 3 years as a midwife in one of the deprived districts in Ghana, Krachi Nchumuru. I have the ability to provide strategic leadership within the public health field, capable of promoting the health of communities, through community and stakeholders' engagement.

I have leverage on my expertise and my experience as a Community Health Nurse to organise and implement most public health programmes leading to increase indicators more especially immunization coverage. I was nominated to be part of the district island team, of which consistently I have provided services to the island communities. Within the 3 years of practice as a midwives, I have set up an antenatal care services in two (2) different health facilities as part of initiative to expand antenatal care services in the district. I aspire to grow myself professionally through continuous professional development and further studies.
