

PROJECT

TITLE: MOBILE HEALTH INITIATIVE FOR UNIVERSAL HEALTH COVERAGE (UHC) IN BORAE NKWANTA

BACKGROUND

Access to healthcare remains a major challenge in rural communities like Borae Nkwanta in the Krachi Nchumuru District of Ghana.

PURPOSE

The purpose of this initiative is to bridge the healthcare access gap by delivering essential health services directly to the people of Borae Nowata using a mobile clinic model.

APPROACH

Lead Nurse Constance Okyere utilizes a motorbike equipped with essential medical supplies to conduct scheduled visits to remote areas within Borae Nkwanta.

The motorbike enables swift movement across difficult terrains, ensuring timely delivery of services and rapid response to health emergencies.

OUTCOMES

- Increased percentage of the community accessing essential health services.

CONCLUSION

The Mobile Health Initiative led by Nurse Constance Okyere exemplifies an adaptable, sustainable model for achieving UHC in underserved communities. By bringing healthcare closer to the people, this approach is not only saving lives but also building a healthier future for Borae Nkwanta.
